Product Content Management

We are the experts in Product Content Management.

It's in our DNA.

AltiusNxt boasts over a decade of experience in giving the right product content to 100's of B2B and B2C companies. We provide all essential elements including product data, images, category tree and seamlessly integrate it to internal and external IT systems.

Great product content is the need-of-the-hour for your customers. A great product content page enables a confident purchase decision. AltiusNxt aims to deliver informative and presentable content on your e-commerce sites to achieve this.

Our methodologies drive complex data transformations.

01 Taxonomy Development

Taxonomy categorizes all the products according to a specified structure, thus making your products more discoverable for the customers' search requests.

02 Product Content Enrichment

We enrich product pages with important pieces of information like Tech Specs, Product Images, MSDS sheets, and user information sheets - thus enabling your customers to have a clear-cut idea of what they are buying.

03 Product Catalogue Management

It's the strategic process of managing your eCommerce product catalogue to ensure the quality of your product data across all your sales channels. It includes how you organize, standardize, and publish your product data to each sales channel.

04 Digital Asset Management

Increasing customer engagement with your e-commerce site, allows them to have a better understanding of product features, benefits, usages through rich and enhanced digital assets - such as Images, Video and Audio.

Gap-fill, Cleansing & Normalization

We help you fill gaps in converting the content from the manufacturer's language to the customer's language. A gap-fill may be required in different stages of content management right from aggregation of product content to making it unique, by applying standardization rules, referring the manufacturing assets, bringing in consistency across the entire category.

Why PIM?

Product data Information Management Tool

PIM can revolutionize the way a business handles digital data. The importance of PIM to your organization can never be stressed enough. The increase in complexities year over year, within products and the sheer volume of them that you have to deal with necessitates the implementation of PIM.

How does PIM help your e-Business?

PIM allows creation of a single source of accurate and enriched product information that can be consumed confidently by internal and external stakeholders in the company, It improves information availability to inside sales teams, eCommerce channels, direct sales, procurement teams, inventory management, distributors, retailers and end customers.

Benefits of PIM in your eBusiness.

- Centralize data with single view of content.
- Ensure data accuracy and consistency.
- Provide customers with quality and updated product content.
- Integrate data from multiple sources, formats, and communication channels.
- Streamline your workflow.
- Easily expand your product catalogue.
- Quickly export and put product info to the right market, sales channel or platform.
- Manage content, media and digital assets.
- Boost your team's productivity and efficiency.

How to choose the right PIM?

Not every business requirement is alike, and so are the PIM solutions. Though different PIM solutions could offer the same features, not all solutions can be high on your expectation level.
